Benjamin Bowser

CSE274UA

I found that all aspects of both parts of my program were working. The stocks aspect has many checks that check if values passed are valid, along with trying to sell more than you own.

In part two, I tested the methods of the program, including removing my stop case in my toString to allow it to continue to loop, to make sure that all nodes were completely linked together.